The KBOR Retirement Program details

Eligibility

KBOR Mandatory Retirement Plan	Benefits eligible faculty and unclassified professional staff at the Kansas Board of Regents Office or at a state university are required to participate in the KBOR Mandatory Retirement Plan after completing one year of service. New employees may, under certain circumstances, be qualified to participate immediately.
KBOR Voluntary Retirement Plan	Benefits-eligible employees can begin making voluntary contributions immediately upon employment.

Enrollment

Enrollment in the KBOR Mandatory Retirement Plan is required by completing the Investment Agreement available through your HR/Benefits Office. If enrollment is not completed, employees will be defaulted into an age-appropriate lifecycle fund with TIAA.

Although eligibility is immediate, enrollment in the KBOR Voluntary Retirement Plan is not automatic: You must complete the Investment Agreement available through your HR/Benefits Office. Participating in the Voluntary Retirement Plan offers the opportunity to set aside additional pretax or Roth savings to help you pursue your goals and income needs in retirement. The sooner you start, the more time your money has to potentially grow through the power of compounding interest.

Contributions

KBOR Mandatory Retirement Plan. As a participant in this defined contribution plan, you contribute 5.5% of your annual gross salary through pretax contributions. Your employer also contributes 8.5% of your annual gross salary. These amounts are remitted each pay period to the investment provider you select, not to exceed the annual IRS allowable limits.

KBOR Voluntary Retirement Plan. Whether you are a participant in KPERS or the KBOR Mandatory Retirement Plan, you can systematically invest pretax or Roth dollars. These amounts are remitted each pay period to the investment provider you select, not to exceed the annual IRS allowable limits.

Loans and hardship withdrawals

The primary purpose of the KBOR Retirement Program is to help you save for—and plan for income in—retirement. However, as situations arise, it may be necessary for you to take a loan or hardship withdrawal from your retirement plan. Loans and hardship withdrawals are only available through the Voluntary Plan. Although loans are not advised, the loan is funded from your eligible accumulations in the Voluntary Retirement Plan and you may borrow up to 50% of your vested balance, not to exceed $50,000. A loan origination fee may be assessed by the plan provider. You'll want to take this fee into account when deciding how much to borrow. Please contact your provider before requesting a loan or hardship withdrawal.

Expense charges

KBOR works hard to keep participant fees and expenses low

Each plan provider's investment options charge different fees for administration and management. These expenses are deducted from your account balance. Prior to selecting your provider, be sure to request and carefully review information regarding investment fees from the plan providers with which you invest.

Enrolling in the KBOR Voluntary Retirement Plan

Benefits-eligible KBOR employees are immediately eligible for the KBOR Voluntary Retirement Plan as part of your overall benefits package. Important decisions come with this eligibility, such as selecting your retirement plan provider. To get started, complete the Investment Agreement which can be obtained by contacting your HR/Benefits Office. You are free to change or stop your contribution amount at any time by submitting a new Investment Agreement.

Creating your retirement investment strategy

Before selecting which accounts or funds to invest in, be sure to compare the investment offerings of the KBOR Retirement Program's two plan providers. On the following pages, we'll describe each provider's investment philosophy, and how you can contact the providers to learn more about their options or to set up a one-on-one session.

The KBOR Retirement Program investment options

What should I consider when building my own portfolio?

Your investment strategy should be based on your retirement goals, the number of years until you retire, your financial circumstances, and your tolerance for investment risk. It is important that you regularly review your investment choices and take advantage of investment advice available to you through the providers online, by phone or during a one-on-one consultation.

You may invest your retirement contributions among a variety of investment options offered by or through either of the companies designated as investment providers for the Plan. These companies have been selected by the Board of Regents to give you flexibility in your retirement planning. Your employer will remit your funds to your selected investment provider with each payroll deduction. Once each calendar year, you can elect to have future contributions deposited with the other investment provider. Subject to the investment providers' policies, accumulated funds may be transferred between the investment providers at any time. For more information, visit kansasregents.org/about/regents_retirement_plans.

Lifecycle or target-date funds

Lifecycle or target-date funds are professionally managed mutual funds designed for investors who want a simple yet diversified approach to investing. With these funds, you select the fund that's closest to your expected retirement date. The fund managers then adjust the fund's underlying investments from more aggressive to more conservative as the target retirement date approaches. You may want to consider this option if you prefer a "hands free" approach to investing and want to leave the portfolio allocation decisions to the fund's professional management team.

Core investment options

The funds in this tier represent an array of investment choices, including stocks, bonds and short-term investments, for investors with varying risk tolerances. You may want to consider selecting these options if you are comfortable diversifying your investments on your own or with the assistance of an investment advisor and online asset allocation tools.

Learn about asset classes

Asset class	Description
 Guaranteed	Offerings within this class protect an individual’s principal and guarantee a minimum interest rate.
 Money Market	These are short-term debt instruments and government securities that carry little risk. Investment in a money market fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency, and may lose money.
 Fixed Income	This category includes bonds and the value fluctuates in response to interest and inflation rates. With traditional bonds, returns vary based on interest income and price changes in the bond market. Funds that invest in fixed-income securities are not guaranteed and are subject to interest rate, inflation, and credit risks.

Asset class	Description
 Real Estate	These investments are ideal for diversification, providing a low correlation with other asset classes, a hedge against inflation and long-term growth potential. As a distinct asset class, real estate performance has specific risks but has shown less volatility over time.
 Equities	This category includes stocks, which represent shares of ownership in companies. Equities tend to be the most volatile in the short term, which means fluctuating account values and a wide variation in response to economic and market conditions. • U.S. Large-Cap Equities—large and well-established companies that have a strong market presence. • U.S. Mid- and Small-Cap Equities—limited marketability and may be subject to more abrupt or erratic market movements. • International Equities—subject to currency fluctuation and political and economic instability; investing in various classes of stock is important to build diversification into your retirement portfolio.
 Market Capitalization	Market capitalization (or “cap”) is important as it relates to risk. • Large-cap companies are generally considered less risky. • A mid-cap company may be considered more risky than companies with large capitalizations, but less risky than small-cap companies. • Small-cap companies are more risky.
 International	Foreign securities are those of non-U.S. companies. They provide additional opportunities for portfolio diversification and may help manage overall risk or volatility. Investing in foreign securities presents certain unique risks not associated with domestic investments, such as currency fluctuation and political and economic changes.
